

DOUBLE- ACTING HINGES

Penrod's double-acting hinges allow a door or gate to open in either direction — both inward and outward. This type of hinge is often used in a high-traffic area or in a location where it is not practical to have a door that opens in only one direction.

Our double-acting hinges:

- Automatically return the doors to the resting position (the center).
- Function by having two sets of knuckles, one on each leaf of the hinge, providing convenience and flexibility in the movement of the door or gate.
- Are available in six finishes: satin nickel, bright brass, dull brass, colonial bronze, flat black, and dull chrome.
- Everything you need comes in one convenient box - two double-acting hinges, tension rods, pins, and all screws required for installation.

PENROD is the most capable, experienced, and reliable supplier of high-quality components to door manufacturers and the millwork industry. We invite you to tie your success to Penrod's decades of experience and product excellence.
